Subject: Elusive Bonnells9 November 2001*From: size@earthlink.net*Cynthia Sizeler

Hello Fellow Bonnells:

With the help of Claude Bunnell, Mary Shipe and I have finally determined the parents of our ancestors, (hers) Phebe Bonnell, sister of my David T. Bonnell, born 1816 New Jersey & died 1893 Jerseyville, IL. Phebe married David Gray Wyckoff in New Jersey and David T. married Sallie (Sarah) Ann Kirby in Jerseyville, IL.

Reuben T. Bonnell and wife, Catherine, were parents of Phebe and David. Reuben divorced Catherine in 1834 (died 1879 & I have a copy of her will) and she married Elisha Mulford about a month later. Then, they moved to Illinois.

I searched the internet re any records for a Reuben T. Bonnell. I find a logical match for him as follows: I estimated he was born 1790 or so (wife Catherine was born 1790). A search at Ancestry.com brought up a Reuben Bunnell born 10-30-1795 in Oxford, CT, son of Benjamin Bunnell and Mary Twitchell. (This data shows to in "Reveal Davis Family tree" via Ancestry.com).

However, the information also notes his death as unknown in youth, with sources as "Families of Ancient New Haven".

Since my David and his father both had the middle initial T and the name Reuben was not all that common in the Bonnells, I tend to think he or another brother of his given the same name, if indeed, died in youth, is our ancestor. It would then appear our line descends from Thomas Bunnell of France.

I am not good at reading census data and I am hoping that the above information will ring a bell with some of you. I seem to recall seeing the surname Twitchell somewhere before, but don't know where. I will appreciate your help with this. I thought perhaps William Austin might have further data, as I believe this would be the same line he has researched.

Thanks, Cynthia Sizeler

11 November 2001*Subject: additional note

As further clues to my earlier email concerning Reuben Bonnell, I should add: another child of Reuben T. Bonnell and Catherine was also Mary C. born 1822 and died 1849 in Jerseyville, IL, married J.C. Rundell (Rundle).

Also, the family was Presbyterian...at least when Phebe married David Wyckoff and when later, Catherine Mulford (Bonnell) willed money to the Presbyterian Church in Jerseyville, IL. In 1879. Perhaps looking back at cemetery records we can find a Reuben Bonnell buried in New Jersey somewhere...to find his death date or more.

Thanks, Cynthia

Subject: Mount Bonnell      5 February 2002      From KevinPBun@msn.com

Hi Carole: The other day a friend sent me a photo from Austin, Texas of a large weathered stone labeled "Mount Bonnell", under stone pillars. Lettering says "Dedicated as a park by Frank M. Covert, Sr, July 15, 1936." There must be a story there. Who was the Bonnell, where do his roots go? How did he get to Austin? Who is/was Frank Covert? Was there a relationship there? I thought you might be interested in the question.

(Editor's Note: Carole forwarded your email on to me and I was curious, even though Carole said she thought that the same subject may have been in a previous issue of the newsletter, but that could have been quite a few years ago. So I went on the "Net" in search of Mt. Bonnell. It wasn't hard at all !! Texas has a history site, " The Handbook of Texas, Online". It was full of information. So I will share with you what I found.)

Austin History

MOUNT BONNELL

Mount Bonnell is a summit within the city limits of Austin (Texas) in central Travis County. In the early 1830s the peak supposedly acquired the name "Antonette's Leap", in memory of a woman who jumped to her death to escape Indians who had just killed her fiancé'. Later, it became known as Mount Bonnell, in honor of George W. Bonnell, who moved to Texas in 1836. Overlooking Lake Austin, Mount Bonnell stands at an elevation of 780 feet above sea level, nearly 200 feet higher than the surrounding area and is a popular picnic area.

BONNELL, GEORGE W. (?-1842) George W. Bonnell, journalist and soldier, a native of Onondaga County, New York, was an editor in Alabama for a time and moved by 1829 to Columbus, Mississippi, where he worked as an editor. He traveled to Texas war of independence. In December 1837 he was living in Houston, where he was a charter member of the Philosophical Society of Texas. During Sam Houston's first term as president of the republic, Bonnell was commissioner of Indian affairs. In April 1838 he reported efforts of Manuel Flores and other Mexican emissaries to stir up the Indians in Texas against the whites. In June 1838 Houston assigned Bonnell to prepare a report for the Bureau of Indian Affairs on the status of relations with the Indians. Bonnell advocated a harsh policy against them. In November 1838, with the rank of major, he was campaigning against the Indians. In 1839 he moved to Austin, where he and Jacob W. Cruger were selected as government printers on December 6. On January 15, 1840, Bonnell started publication of the first Austin Texas Sentinel. He sold the Sentinel on December 26, 1840, the year he printed his Topographical Description of Texas, to Which is Added an Account of the Indian Tribes. That year he was also a charter member of the Texas Patriotic and Philanthropic Society and sometimes worked as a Spanish translator in the General Land Office. In January 1841 he was involved with the Texas Trading, Mining and Emigrating Company. On February

3, 1841, he became a charter member of the Austin Lyceum. He took part in the Texan Santa Fe expedition and was released from prison in Mexico in the summer of 1842, in time to return to Texas to join the Mier expedition as a lieutenant in Company F. On December 26, 1842, Bonnell was left with a camp guard in the Texas side of the Rio Grande. When the guard was ordered to retreat, he and a companion returned to the camp for horses and Bonnell was captured and shot by a Mexican soldier, probably on December 27, 1842. Mount Bonnell, on the Colorado River near Austin was named for him, probably by Gen. Edward Burleson in 1838.

Friends gather at Funeral Services of D.M. Bunnell

Funeral services over the remains of Daniel Marion Bunnell were held from the late residence on North Main Street Saturday afternoon at two thirty o'clock. A large number of the friends of the deceased were in attendance and the floral offerings were profuse expressing the esteem in which Mr. Bunnell was held by all who knew him. Reverend Marion LeSourd, pastor of Grace M.E. Church was the officiating clergyman and his remarks conveyed a tribute to the earthly life of worth which has ended by death.

The singing was in charge of an old organization of which Mr. Bunnell had been a member and which used to be known as the Plumed Knight Glee Club. It was formerly composed of nearly eighty members and sang during the Blaine campaign. R.S. Pearce was president of the club and S.B. Price the musical director. Six members of the old organization were present on Saturday and sang several selections. Those taking part were Meesrs. R.S. Pearce, S.B. Price, S.B. Grove, F.A. Morgan, W.A. ### The Vickie Bunnell Preserve

*This next newspaper article was sent in by Clifton Cilley, Colebrook, NH
(Editor's note: I have condensed this article. tlb)*

The News and Sentinel, Colebrook, New Hampshire, Page 3, Wednesday, August 22, 2001
Friends, family, Owners Dedicate Bunnell Preserve by John Harrigan

Rain threatened a hilltop in East Colebrook for a while Saturday, but the clouds parted just in time to offer a stunning view of the Bunnell Mountain and the high country of Columbia and Stratford - highly appropriate for the family and friends gathered for the dedication of the 10,000 acre Vickie Bunnell Preserve.

The larger property known collectively as the Bunnell Tract actually encompasses more than 18,000 acres. Part of it will remain as working forest, and part will be reserved as a wildlands preserve. All of it will remain open to compatible forms of recreation, including hiking, bird watching, nature study, snowmobiling, cross country skiing, hunting, fishing and snowshoeing. The property will also remain on the local tax rolls.

The Nature Conservancy recently concluded a deal to purchase the land from the Conservation Fund, which had bought it from Champion International to hold it until a suitable long term owner stepped forward. To date the New Hampshire chapter of TNC has raised $1.25 million from individuals and private foundations, and now must raise another $3.75 million to complete the purchase and fund long term stewardship costs.

Saturday afternoon's dedication, arranged and hosted by Nature Conservancy staffers at Ginger Jannenga's house, was an informal, emotional and reminiscent affair held together by a common affection and respect for Vickie's life and goals, and by a shared commitment to the long term good of the land. As people milled around sharing stories about Vickie and the land and devouring a lunch served up by TNC staffers, a handsome new sign for the tract, one of four or five that will eventually be put up at a prominent spots, stood shrouded on the south lawn with Bunnell Mountain as a backdrop, waiting for Vickie's family to snip the ribbon. In ginger's new mown back field a fox hunted mice. A sparrow hawk narrowly missed nailing a songbird directly above the gathering.

Among the speakers was Scott Williamson, one of several of Vickie's family and friends who envisioned such a memorial but the person who put heart and soul into making it happen. "Vickie lived at the foot of what's called now Bunnell Mountain," he said, "and she hiked, snowshoed and hunted that land. She loved the place and would want to it to stay the way it is. Now that's going to happen".

The Bunnell Tract includes 3,723 foot Bunnell Mountain and 12 other peaks above 3,000 feet. The parcel contains 28 miles of stream frontage and is the source for more than a dozen watersheds, including Simms Stream, Nash Stream, Clear Stream and Phillips Brook. The Bunnell Tract represents the largest single purchase in the state's history.

(Clifton also sent 2 pictures, which I will describe and write up what the caption says. tlh)

A picture with 4 people standing beside a sign that says: VICKIE BUNNELL PRESERVE THE NATURE CONSERVANCY. Under the picture it says the following: A memory and Landscape preserved. Earl, Pam, Earl Sr and Irene Bunnell stand behind one of the signs that will honor their daughter in the largest conservation purchase in New Hampshire's history, as newly renamed Bunnell Mountain and the Vickie Bunnell Preserve provide the backdrop.

THE next picture is of 2 people and the caption reads: VICKIE BUNNELL SCHOLARSHIP WINNER After more than three years of determined fund raising, the Vickie Bunnell Memorial Scholarship Fund has reached a sufficient level to award its first scholarship and it went to a well known local artist Michele Johnsen of Columbia, who's furthering her education and working toward a teaching degree through the College of Lifelong Learning. Vickie's Dad Bunny was at the Colebrook Kiwanis meeting to make the presentation and give her a big hug.

His given name was also changed from Charles Ernest to Edward Charles. Our son Jerry decided he wanted the biological surname before he had children. Bill Austin has all this information.
